M. Jules Simon in the Paris Gaulois devotes every day many columns to witty insidious attacks on Gambetta. He vouches for the truth of the following anecdote: "Some few days ago M. Gambetta met in a saloon a Senator of the Right. 'Well, M. Le President,' said the Senator, plunging into the subject without preface, 'What do you mean to do with us?' 'Why,' replied Gambetta, 'I mean to honor you, to respect you.' 'And to suppress you,' rejoined the Senator—he is one who has a life sent. 'No, no,' rejoined Gambetta, with that hearty southern laugh of his; 'it will be only a tiny operation. It will not hurt you; you will not even have to be chloroformed.' 'I understand, and thank you for your kind intentions,' retorted the Senator; 'but, then how about M. Clemenceau, M. Louis Bland and M. Barodet? When the Congress of the two Chambers meets it will do what it likes.' 'Non, Monsieur,' replied M. Gambetta, 'it will do what I like.'"

The Knights of Columbia are a Western secret organization of colored men. Two lodges in St. Louis use the same hall, and owing to a misunderstanding they both met for "work" on the same evening. High Sovereign Holland of Missouri Union Lodge was seated on his throne, arrayed in purple regalia, when High Sovereign Andrews of the Future Great Lodge, entered and demanded the place. Both were armed with big swords, and with these a fierce combat was fought. The members joined in the fray, the throne was demolished and the police had to break in to restore peace.—N. Y. Sun.

President Porter, of Yale, takes occasion to declare that in the instruction department of the college no religious tests are applied. It is not even demanded that instructions shall formally express a faith in God or shall use any religious influences. "But we do require," he says, "that no influences or instructions in any unchristian direction shall be allowed, whether directly or indirectly, and we expect that the public will hold us severely to this as our duty."

EDITORIAL NOTES

The fellow that has the Journal in hand now, seems to be one of those smart men who know just how to manage everyone's business but his own. He says that "since last September the editor of the GAZETTE has been on the inside with the Moore faction." There is nothing like news.

The remarks made by Judge Cox in the trial of Guitau were the subject of much comment at Washington on Wednesday, and the explanation made by the Judge is received on all sides with the utmost satisfaction.

The London Times says Chili will not be inclined to submit to election unless the American army and Navy be largely reinforced.

COAST NEWS

Schuyler Denison, aged 11, killed a California lion near Northfork last week. The beast measured seven feet from tip to tip.

California lions are coming down from the mountains in great numbers, and concentrating at the localities near Kaweah river, Tulare county, where many hogs are at pasture.

A hot blast from the Mohave Desert has been prevailing, scorching up what little feed is left. The sheep are already dying in certain sections of the county. There are some indications now of the much needed rain.

"Ain't this a little high?" asked a timid tenderfoot of a Sawtooth tavern keeper in Ogden, who had charged him $4.50 for his dinner. "It may be a little high," replied the host, fumbling with the handle of a revolver in the cash drawer, "but I need the money." He got it.

F. H. Myers, a druggist at the corner of Center and Seventh streets, Oakland, committed suicide yesterday at eight o'clock by taking a dose of cyanide of potassium. Medical aid was called in, but too late to be of any avail. He left the following memorandum on his table: "My body shall go to the medical students in Berkeley and the remains be burned, for cremation is the surest and quickest way of decomposition. No minister shall be present, only a free-thinking and radical man shall officiate and speak a few words according to facts." His suicide is attributed to mental derangement. He was a German by birth and leaves a wife and family.

Garfield's Bill

Chicago, December 31.

A Times Washington special says: Several paragraphs have been printed, giving an outline of the action already taken by the Congressional committee charged with auditing bills for the expenses incurred during the late illness of General Garfield. All these paragraphs have been premature, as the Chairman of the Committee has not called his associates together, and will not until after the 5th of January. The only settlement taken looking to a settlement of the claims of the physicians and others, is a bill offered in the Senate by Mr. Edmunds, providing that an appropriation of one hundred thousand dollars be made to pay the bills above mentioned. It has been said that the House Committee would raise this amount to $125,000, but there has been no suggestion in that direction as yet. It is said that Senator Edmunds introduced this bill at this early day for the purpose of getting the subject before the Senate and discussing it there. It is a well-known fact that Senator Edmunds has a great dislike of Dr. Bliss, and has been unsparing in his expressions of disbelief in his skill as a physician, and it is equally certain that he will make a strenuous effort against paying Bliss any fee.

Car Robbers Captured

El Paso, Texas, December 31.

The city marshal, last night at Rincon, captured Wm. Heyden, Wm. Welunebaugh, D. H. Paxton, James Ratte, McClintock, and L. Proctor, (a hotel keeper, aged twenty-five years), and wife, supposed to be a part of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe freight car robbers. Their depredations are large in value and extending over several months.

Press Dispatches to EVENING GAZETTE.

THE NATION'S CRIMINAL.

No Wonder He Is Anxious to Know Something of Abraham—Will Attend to Corkhill in '84.

WASHINGTON, December 31.

On the opening of Court Guitau called, "One of my guards here, Cunningham, has got an eleven-pound baby for a New Year's present." [Laughter, in which the jury heartily joined.]

Dr. Gray resumed the story of his conversation with the prisoner in jail. Guitau—That don't correspond with your evidence yesterday, Doctor; you went into inspiration then.

Scoville objected to the statement of the witness, saying: "He paid nothing of inspiration or Divine pressure, and I desire that the witness give the conversation, or the substance of it as it occurred, and that it will be the province of the jury to say what should be inferred from it."

The witness qualified his statement by adding: "I asked him questions and my statement was based upon his replies. The prisoner used the expression 'when I made up my mind.'"

Guitau, shouting—Making up my mind was the result of a guiding pressure. That's where the inspiration came in. Please get that straight while you are about it.

Scoville again objected and said that witness was losing sight of the question and going into an argument.

Guitau—He has forgotten what he testified yesterday. Corkhill might have got hold of him and instructed him what to say to-day. That's what the matter with him.

Scoville disclaimed any desire to interrupt the witness, but the prosecution held him to the strict requirement that he should make his objections specifically, and must therefore stop the witness at every point where he was satisfied any objection would lie.

Guitau continually interjected comments, and with Scoville's frequent objections the witness soon became sensibly disturbed, and when asked to go on, said: "There have so many interruptions I don't know where I am." Guitau quickly retorted—I should not think you did, nor anyone else. I have been trying all this morning to find out where you are. The facts are badly mixed this morning, Doctor. We will have to send a small boy to aid you.

Witness was about to state some reasons which induced him to form the opinion that the prisoner was sane at the time he visited him at the jail, when Guitau again interrupted and called out: "Dr. Gray is devoting himself to an argument to the jury this morning, which he has no right to do. He should confine himself to facts. Porter will take care of the arguments." (Scarcely) "Judge Porter, I mean."

Scoville again objected and said that the witness was volunteering an argument instead of adhering to a statement of facts.

Witness, with some feeling replied: "I am under oath, Mr. Scoville, and do not care to volunteer anything which is not strictly and appropriately evidence in the case."

The witness did not find a single circumstance, as narrated by the prisoner, to indicate insanity. He thought him sane.

Corkhill read the hypothetical question similar to that approved by Scoville. The witness analyzed the question, clause by clause, and refused to answer it because it did not describe an insane person.

The prisoner, as reading proceeded, interrupted with: "All boah. That's false; how do you know that Smith's lie, etc."

The witness then stated, at length, what, in Guitau's actions in Court, led him to believe he was sane. He was asked if he thought Guitau had been feigning. He replied: "Yes, I do. He claims an inspiration from Deity. I don't believe that he believes any such thing, and in such sense he is feigning."

Guitau—It's no such thing. I never feign. You are paid for your opinion; the jury is not.

On cross-examination witness stated that he had never, as an expert, pronounced a sane man insane or adjudged an insane one sane. He admitted having changed his views since he began the study of the subject.

Guitau—You may reach Abraham in twenty years, Doctor. You are a growing man.

The witness said he had abandoned the moral insanity theory as long ago as 1854.

Guitau—The amount of it is, these experts will swear to anything for money. The subject of insanity is a progressive one. How about Corkhill's money? I guess that was the influence that brought you here. This fellow Corkhill has got a bundle in the treasury that will run out one hundred thousand dollars before he gets through with this case. It is about time President Arthur was attending to his case. I wouldn't let him stay here a week if I was President. However, I'll attend to Corkhill in '84.

Scoville attempted to get the witness to confess that conversations and conduct were the chief means of determining sanity or insanity.

The witness held that that was only an incidental and not an essential element.

Guitau interrupted, saying that the experts on this case wanted to kill a man and examine his brain and to determine on his sanity afterwards.

"The witness had seen some forty cases of feigned insanity, and thought he (Guitau) was feigning insanity."

The "Times" On Indian Territory.

New York, December 30.

The Times thus summarizes and comments upon one of its Washington specials: While no honest man desires to see an invasion of Indian Territory, or would force upon the tribes occupying that section, an opening of their country to settlements, it must be admitted that incidents of the late concession to the railroad company, of a right away across the Territory, reveal the anomalous condition of things.

In this case the railroad company asked for the use of a strip of land two hundred feet wide, with an additional strip, at points where stations are to be built. To secure this right it was necessary that the Government of the United States should send an envoy to the Choctaw nation and ask a favor from the Choctaw nation. After some delay and much opposition the latter, probably influenced by the importunities of rival corporations, a right-of-way was granted, and the railroad company pays rent to the Choctaw nation. This may seem like a great concession, but a narrow track occupied by a railway is like a tunnel through Indian Territory. This unit, so to speak, is two hundred feet wide, and citizens of the United States who go beyond that line takes his life in his hands. To all intents and purposes he is more remote from the protection of his Government than he would be if he were cast away on the coast of Siberia. Indian Territory is a little empire by itself.

Bishop Sharp on Polygamy.

New York, December 31.

A World reporter interviewed Bishop Sharp, of Utah, now here, who said: "I always have understood that Garfield didn't desire to tip up the whole past, but was resolved that polygamy should be suppressed for the future. Arthur, to judge by his utterances, is determined to carry out the programme inaugurated by his predecessor. Polygamy is a very difficult problem to solve. I cannot conceive what the Government can do with cases of polygamous marriages where contracted before or since 1862. Their abrogation would be an obvious injustice, and would result in miseries untold. I do not anticipate that Congress will act rashly or unadvisedly, and our people express no fears of any such action. It would be hard to say what would be the result should the Government act hastily. Our people are peace-loving and law-abiding, but they are not to be trodden upon with impunity."

Burdette and Blackburn.

PHILADELPHIA, December 31.

General Burdette, who figures in the contemplated duel with Congressman Blackburn, is employed in the postoffice in this city. Upon being interviewed, he would only say that the entire matter will come to a point in a few days.

Burglar Killed.

St. Louis, December 31.

A Post special from Kansas City says: Joe Smith alias Robert Burns, a noted burglar and desperado, was shot and killed by police officer Lovell this morning about four o'clock, while prowling around some residences.

A Cannibal Murderer.

SING SING PRISON, December 31.

Daniel Cash, a convict, was assassinated this morning by Angelo Cordeto, a fellow-prisoner. There was no quarrel, and not a word was spoken by either. The cause of the murder is unknown.

WESTERN.

An Insane Man Shoots His Mother-in-Law and Little Daughter and then Commits Suicide.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 31.

About 8 o'clock this morning Geo. S. Reed, residing at No. 2,049 Mission street, shot and killed his mother-in-law, Sarah A. Smith, and wounded, probably fatally, his eight-year-old daughter, Ella, and then killed himself.

Reed, who was a widower, aged 33 years, has been for several years a clerk with Macquindry & Co. He lived with his mother-in-law and two sisters-in-law, Mrs. Sarah C. Gorham and Mrs. Carrie L. Burr.

He was of a nervous disposition, and probably inherits a streak of insanity, as one of his uncles, also in the employ of Macquindry & Co., died in an insane asylum. For some time past Reed has been much pressed with business, and latterly in a very nervous and excitable frame of mind. He continued at work until yesterday, when he took to bed. His conversation, at times, showed that he apprehended danger of doing some mischief in his hysterical state.

This morning Mrs. Gorham went into his room, learned his wishes regarding breakfast, and went down stairs to prepare it. Shortly after she heard shots, and running to the stairs, saw Reed fall at the head of the stairway, while Ella came running down crying: "papa has killed me." She called assistance and went up stairs. Her mother was lying on the hall floor near the door of her room, shot in the breast. She was speechless and died in a few moments. Reed also lay in the hall, with one shot in his head and another near the heart. The pistol lay under his right hand. He lived about two hours in an unconscious condition.

The child is shot in the breast and will probably die. She says that she ran out into the hall to kiss papa and that he had a hole in his forehead; that he drew and shot, and then shot himself.

Reed's act was evidently committed under an act of temporary insanity, as his family relations were of a pleasant nature, and no other cause is known to exist to account for the tragedy.
